

Satellite radio is providing a valuable service by broadcasting weather and road conditions. Many local stations do not generate strong enough signals that they can be heard outside a very limited listening area. Furthermore they do not continually broadcast the information, just between commercials. so you have to wait for it to come on. Please do not stifle innovation.